REV. FATHER COOPER BENEFIT BALL GREATLY IMPROVED

IS ARRANGING FOR PICNIC AT TANFORAN PARK ON ADMISSION DAY, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 9TH.

Despite his precarious condition of a week ago and the gravest fears of his physicians, Rev. Father J. A. Cooper of St. Michael's parish rallied when his vitality seemed at the lowest ebb, and his many friends will be rejoiced to know that his condition is greatly improved. Rev. Father O'Neill, Father Cooper's assistant, says they are very hopeful that the patient may yet have a long lease of life before him and they have not despaired of him by any means.

Father Cooper is entirely lucid and his interest in the affairs of his parish is in no wise diminished. It is at this season of the year that he always makes arrangements for the annual outing and picnic at Tanforan Bids for constructing a retaining Park. Being unable to give his personal attention to the matter this year he has intrusted it to Father tainment comes up to the high standard of former years.

> St. Michael's outing and picnic will be held this year on Admission Day. Thursday, September 9th, instead of Labor Day. There will be the usual attractions and reunions and a general good time for the people of the whole county.

This game has been talked of a great deal in Knights of Columbus circles and promises to furnish not only a great deal of sport but amuse-

We all know young Tom Hickey's achievements on the diamond, but many are anxious to see Tom Sr. in motion. It is rumored that the first baseman of the visiting team has never had his life insured, so it is safe to predict that Tom will at least reach first base. What kind of figures will be cut by Billy Smith, Dr. Flanagan, Bill Hickey and Ambrose Mc-Sweeney is pretty hard to determine, but it will be well worth a trip to the ball grounds to see these "youngsters" try to live up to the stories they've been telling of "what they used to do" on the baseball field. One thing is certain, that whether the score be great or small, or whether the Knights of this city win or fail, the fun will be fast and furious. Don't miss this game.

ENGLISHMAN ON JAPANESE VESSEL

How it feels to an English-speaking radio-telegrapher on board a Japanese ship not one member of whose crew speaks a word of English, was told recently by George Robinson, the Marconi operator on the Wasaka more carefully observed." Maru, a Japanese freighter, which finished discharging a cargo of general merchandise at the Anchor line pier and went to Bayonne to load oil.

to an urgent summons after the Japanese operator had been left in the seamen's hopital suffering from acute indigestion. Robinson had gone on board with only one suit of clothes, and the raiment in which he addressed an Eagle reporter the other day was only part of that, decidedly "'alf and 'alf," as he expressed it. A from the waist down he was clad in a pair of billowing oriental bloomers.

His only trousers, he said, he had passed out to the steward one night after retiring with instructions to clean and press them before morning. The steward or his assistant had misunderstood the instructions, and when Robinson asked for the trousers in the morning he was shown in sign language that they were over the stern at the end of the heaving line, and a hurried investigation showed them splashing along as they were jerked through the swells. This was the way in which all the crew except the officers cleaned their clothes, and the boy to whom he had given the trousers had dropped them over at the end of a line to wash in the usual manner. That was bad enough, but to draw them on board the knot that wireless man with trousers that he the position gained under a raking grown quite vain. could get into, and he was forced to shell fire, the casualties amounting to adopt the hybrid dress in which he 1500, as compared with less than 100 was found on board the Wasaka Maru, of the Boers. getting the bloomers from one of the crew. He was waiting, he said, for one of the employes on the dock to come back with a pair of decent on the Boer position with 600 men, Christian trousers for him to wear the British force being routed and

It red blood in its veins he would capture and eat it alive.

Although Robinson was practically cut off from communication with his superiors and the crew, it did not hinder him in his duties. Once he sighted a German submarine, and pointed it out to the captain, Katiro Shiraishi, who shrugged his shoulders and sent orders below for more speed. The radio man knew the special admiralty call for submarines and began sounding at once. The German, who last time we had a party I attended had his aerial up, caught the signal, and and apparently assuming that there to.' was a British destroyer near by, dived and was not seen again. In about half an hour a destroyer did come up, though its whereabouts had been unknown to the Wasaka Maru.

COUNTY TAX RATE TO BE FIXED ON SEPTEMBER 6TH

According to an opinion just rendered by Attorney-General U.S. Webb, boards of supervisors must meet and fix the new county tax rates on Monday, September 6th, despite the fact that it is a holiday-Labor Day. The new law states that the county tax rate must be fixed on the first Monday in September, and the question immediately arose as to whether the supervisors should fixe the rate on that day or meet one day later, as is the custom when regular meetings are scheduled for legal holidays. # REPRESENTED AT GOOD ROADS CONGRESS

(By F. L. Eksward.)

The San Mateo County Development Association, which is largely responsible for the leading position that the county now occupies in progressive road construction circles, will participate in the big good roads congress that meets in San Francisco and Oakland, September 13th-17th.

The organization will be duly represented by the following good roads enthusiasts, who are well-known Peninsula residents: M. B. Johnson, Montara, president of the development association; Charles L. Biebel, city clerk of Daly City; W. J. Martin, South San Francisco; F. A. Cunningham, town trustee of South San Francisco; D. G. Doubleday, Millbrae; E. M. Moores, mayor of Burlingame; Terence Masterson, town trustee of San Mateo; H. C. Tuchsen, town trustee of Redwood City, all of whom are members of the board of governors of the San Mateo County Development Association, and Secretary F. L. Eks-

Probably there is not a section in the whole American continent that is construction.

The monster convention affords us a splendid opportunity of telling the American road builders just what this county has accomplished.

There is no other highway in existence that received the heavy usage that El Camino Real is called upon to bear on Sundays and holidays.

Last Sunday an accurate count kept by the traffic officers at Millbrae during a period of twelve hours showed that twenty-one motor vehicles passed this point every minute. It is a safe estimate to make that during the entire day 20,000 motor cars passed. Averaging five passengers to each automobile, 100,000 persons enjoyed touring on a perfect boulevard. This would indicate that about twice the number of the county's normal popuvisited the Peninsula last Sunday.

The Tri-State Goods Roads Association, which represents a large membership in Oregon, Washington and California, and which is represented in every city in these three states, hereby calls attention to the change of dates of its third annual convention and the Pacific Coast Good Roads Congress to be held in San Francisco and Oakland, the dates being changed from August to September 13th-17th. This change was agreed to by the directors of the assocation upon the invitation for co-operation from the directors of the Pan-American Road Congress constituting the American Road Builders' Association, the American Highway Assocation, correlating the meeting with the sessions of the International Engineering Congress and the American Society of Civil Engineers.

The co-operation with these important bodies will be of great importance to the Pacific coast.

Joint sessions are arranged for giving the Tri-State Good Roads Association all the advantages of a great national congress.

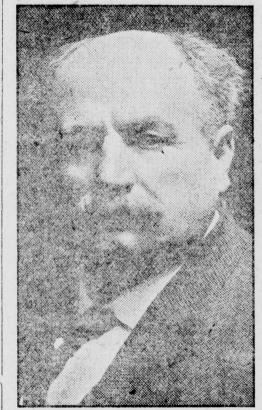

The Tri-State Good Roads Association desires to impress upon the people that each locality has a specific interest in the movement for better roads. The immensity of the road problem means more for the development of the community than any other enterprise, and a broad usefulness will be achieved by bringing all the cities of the Pacific coast states into close connection and harmony by means of good roads systems.

This official invitation is extended to everybody, and especially to all lovers of good roads in the states of Washington, Oregon and California.

BELGIANS ARE BIRD EATERS

Where are the birds of Belgium? Every one who has known the Belgium of the past will ask himself this question in thinking of some of the admirable Flemish restaurants he has visited. For the Belgians were a nation of bird eaters, and in this I expect to pass through this world little country as in Italy every variety of bird was pressed into service.

Now with the noise of battle over all the land the constant cannonading has frightened away even the boldest of the native birds.

Grives were the aristocrats of Belgian game birds, and one of the most delectable known to the Belgian cuisine was grives a la Namuriose. It is generally believed that before ing, when the doors were thrown open Thousands of grives were served daily in autumn in restaurants, and, as no Belgian dinner is considered Court Violet orchestra had several complete without a bird of some sort, remained a msytery.
